

Fl 14 Grosse pour le clergé d'Avenches, 1534. Commissaire possibly Jehan Lando.

Even though this volume is described as a « grosse », it does not contain « reconnaissances » ; rather, the entries are brief descriptions of both the vassals and the properties. This terrier is available only on microfilm, because of the condition of the original. The scribe used a dull quill and wrote in a small, indistinct hand. Many of the pages are badly stained or otherwise damaged. As a result, the répertoire is far more legible than the main text. There are many indistinct notations in the margins, likely indicating to some ancient accountant whether all payments had been received. There is also a different set of notations indicating, apparently, later ownership of the properties.

On fols. 46v ff, as well as 59v, there are several entries in French that do not appear in the index. One of them cites a document of 07 feb 1575. Apparently, additional items were added to the terrier where space was available, long after it was compiled in 1534.

We have photographs of the original fols. 1-7, and from the microfilm fols. 42v-47 and 49-62. Also, we have paper copies of fols. 33v-37v from the microfilm.
