

ACV DL 83 Johannes Saloz senior, notary at Moudon, 1439-1473, FHL Microfilm #0923600.

Abstracts prepared by John W. McCoy (RealMac@aol.com) © 2025.

The records of this notary have been digitized on www.familysearch.org: Image Group 009165535.

The records of Johannes Saloz senior (this is the spelling used in his signature; the name is also written Saly, Sali, etc.), comprising one register of with folios numbered 3 through 313 but with some numbering errors and irregularities, the earliest surviving register of any of the notaries of Moudon in the collection of the ACV, are in reasonably good condition, although the script is faded and not always clearly legible. A few items in this register bear his signature and large and small paraphes.

The cover shows “Registrum Johannis Saly senioris notarii et burgensis Melduni, 1445-1471”, but there is also a modern pencil notation, “1441-1472”. However, some earlier and later dates are found, including an unnumbered folio (following the original folio 10) containing items from 1439. The cover is supported by an old parchment, one item showing enough information to read “Ego, Johannes de Passibus de Morgia Lausannensis diocesis”, and another mentioning Dominus Franciscus Marcularii presbiter de Vulliens, with a partial date in the 15th Century, thus apparently contemporary with the contents of the register itself.

While most of the contents involve debts, sales, settlements, testaments, and marriages, there are a few transactions mentioning Jews, a rarity in Swiss records of this period, as well as an unexpected inventory (fols. 59v ff) of more than 60 bequests to the confreria of St. Nicolas of Moudon, most dating from the plague year of 1349.

A careful reading of inscriptions marked by the large paraphe of the notary could be used to document the succession of ballifs of Vaud and other notable changes in governance. A few of these inscriptions are mentioned below, mainly to mark the change of years, Style of the Annunciation.

There are a number of folios that are out of chronological order, suggesting that the register was collated incorrectly when it was assembled. Also, fol. 270, apparently from 1466, begins in the middle of a transaction, and the beginning of that transaction has not yet been identified. Either the folio that should have preceded it has been lost (but that would have occurred before the folios were numbered), or else it is an example of an incorrect collation.

The gaps in coverage and the irregularities of the collation are summarized as follows (including most of the isolated items that were recorded out of sequence or that represent updates or additions accompanying other items):

1439	fols. 10b-10bv only
