

ACV Aa 2/2 Copy register for the Inventaire Blanc, district of Avenches, Supplement.

Abstracts prepared by John W. McCoy (RealMac@aol.com) © 2020.

The spine of this volume is labeled “Suplément – Avenche – Tom. I”, even though it is catalogued as the second of three volumes of copy registers for this district. The title page explains the contents: “Tomus I, continens diversa Legata, Testamenta, Acquisitiones, Donationes et Regonitiones Homagiorum ac Decimarum, per diligentem Revisionem ac Strenuam Inquisitionem reperta inter quadsam Litteras et Instrumenta Sub Titulo et Nomine inutilium Regonitionum olim dejecta, De Anno 1249 jusque ad Annum 1536.” In other words, these are transcriptions of miscellaneous documents that were not inventoried in the original Inventaire Blanc. There are 94 items. They are abstracted here so that it will be possible to locate them (of at least their transcripts !) more easily.

The date 1249 listed on the title page does not agree with the contents! The first item is dated both in its title and in the text in 1349. Is it the date 1249 on the title page that is in error, or it is the date in the first item itself that is incorrect? A more careful reading might settle the question, but the item No. 2 is dated in 1344, and all the rest of the documents seem to be in chronological order. As a result of the integration of the old inventory of “Nouveaux Titres” into the on-line catalogue, it has been possible to identify all but one of the items in this series in the modern catalogue of the ACV, and in some cases, to reveal probable errors in the dates found in Aa 2/2. The existence of a corresponding entry in the “Nouveaux Titres” tells us that the original document had been transported from Bern and had survived in the collections of the ACV at least until the early 20th Century. However, items designated NF in the catalogue of the ACV refer to transcriptions of the inventory of the “Nouveaux Titres” rather than the documents themselves, but the latter may frequently be located in some part of ACV C XX, and in the present case, most likely in the collection for Avenches, C XX 33, the inventory of which still lacks almost entirely any description except the date, which, because of the condition of the documents, may not always be reliable.
