The manuscript consists of a single folio, with some damage, listing the contents of an unknown volume, folios 1-97. The top of the folio is crumpled, stained, and faded in such a way that only a few isolated letters of what was probably a title are visible. This folio must have been associated in some way with Ff 77, perhaps found inserted in that volume at some point during the last century or so, but we found no definite record in the inventory of the ACV of how it was discovered. Some of the names are also found in 16th Century records relating to the priory of Lutry, but as there are no place names in this record, the subject could just as well be some other jurisdiction in the vicinity of Lausanne or Lutry.
