

ACV Fn 313 Rights of the Hospital of St. Jean de Jérusalem

Abstracts prepared by John W. McCoy (RealMac@aol.com) © 2022.

This terrier has been digitized on www.familysearch.org: Image Group 101697078

Extraits de reconnaissances, in three parts. The ACV designates these as sections A, B, and C.

The entire volume needs to be studied in detail. The foliation provided by the ACV is artificial, as there are multiple sequences of folio numbers within this volume. Many of the original documents that were copied or abstracted into this volume still exist, and are noted in the inventories of the ACV or the Archives Communales de Moudon.

The three sections were probably not originally intended to be bound together in their present form. Section A appears to be a register of instruments recorded by Johannes Landry, or at least part of such a register (in effect, a small terrier), with its own repertorium. Section B is an inventory of documents held by the hospital (these were stored in “fardelli” or bundles), or in a few cases by a related institution, presented as extracts or paraphrases. Section C serves as an index or summary inventory of Section B (or at least, to a part of Section B), but is numbered separately, thus was not intended as a part or continuation of Section B. Section B, however, is missing about 15 folios, whose contents, in summary form, can be deduced, at least in part, from section C. In addition, some of the items from those missing pages are repeated elsewhere in the B section. There are also a few inserted pages that appear to be stray notes not directly related to Fn 313.

(Citations from the AC Moudon refer to the inventory of the Archives Communales de Moudon, as found in the “Panorama” database, <https://panorama.vd.ch/suchinfo.aspx>.)

A section, 21 folios.

1     “Extenta rerum et possessionum hospitalis Sancti Johannis Jerusalem de Melduno signata per Johannem Landry notarium de Melduno...” There is a repertorium for this section. If taken literally, the title implies that the A section is in fact a short terrier, or the beginnings of one, compiled by Johannes Landry. Support for the view that the A section is in fact a register or “protocol” of Johannes Landry is found on fol. 2, the item for Mermetus de Rota, under which there is a notation in the hand of Nycodus Escofferii, indicating that he had made a copy of this item as custodian of the protocols of Johannes Landry. It would be appropriate for Escofferii to make such a notation in the actual, original register where he found the item to be copied. Escofferii would have no reason to place the notation in a volume of extracts or copies.

This section contains many items from Mauborget, which need to be reviewed in detail, as they may provide clues for the history of a certain house that once was held by the Dutoit family. Some items bear the signature and paraphe of Johannes Landry, which also appears under the title. There are numerous notations in the margins and elsewhere, many very poorly legible. The entire text is heavily abbreviated. Most of this material, unlike that in the B and C sections, does not seem to exist in the AC Moudon, again supporting the idea that the A section is one of Landry's "protocols", and not a compilation or inventory of individual documents that had been collected and maintained by the hospital.

B section, 80 folios.

B section, fols. numbered by ACV as 22- 103, no repertorium. However, this section properly begins at ACV fol. 24, Sequitur extractus licterarum Sancti Johannis Jherusalem melius per me Leonardi de Castaneri rectorem eiusdem beneficii 1463 die Lune post conceptionem Beate Marie Virginis. Folio number on this page has been lost, the corner eroded away, but the next folio, ACV fol. 25, bears the original folio number 2. The folios that ACV has numbered 22 and 23 appear to be later insertions that we consider misplaced, or at best tangential to the B section.

Inserted folio [ACV 22] (The verso of this sheet is blank.)

Notations that appear to be folio references, but they do not appear to correspond to any section of Fn 313 :

Dominus de Lulens ? fol. 39, item plus ... (illegible)
 Dominus de Blonnay, 3 folio references, none clearly legible
 Ja. Vallacrest, fol. 6, item plus, fol. 18
 Ja. Pini, fol. 80

[ACV 22] Possessiones obligate apud Dompnelye factorum hospitali Sancti Johannis de Jherusalem: (In effect, an inventory of 5 such properties, giving descriptions of the parcels, but no history or dates. In the margin, tenants of these parcels, poorly legible : Anthonius Gollion, Johannes Rolaz ?, Johannes de Canali, D. Arseir ?)

[ACV 22] Die Jovis p... ? (pridie ?) Inserted folio [ACV 23] (Copy or extract; this sheet shows evidence of having been folded in quarters or perhaps smaller for a long time, but the ink is clear. There are later marginal notations in French, e.g., "les Pidoux") Perrotus Grand de Forel, Jacobus Grand, Agnelleta eius

(Margin : Ciiii<sup>xx</sup>xv) (This is an abstract of the same document of which another copy is found below, fol. 63. As the two entries apparently represent two different copies of the same testament, it seems likely that the name Conoda originated as a clerical error when the original notice of the testament was copied soon after its preparation. Several other documents agree that she was Elynoda. As a matter of procedure in that period, was a "notice of testament" prepared immediately upon the signing of the testament itself? From the texts found here, we surmise that might actually have been the normal procedure, even though it would result in later confusion in the event the testator happened to survive and prepared a later testament cancelling the first.)

(Margin : Ciiii<sup>xx</sup>xviii) (There were two men of this name who made religious bequests in Moudon, the Richardus de Vuilliens who made his testament in 1326, and the one who made his testament in 1401. Which is this ? The surviving documents in the AC Moudon do not indicate such a bequest to this hospital by either man. (Fols. 49-64 are missing. The next folio is clearly numbered 65, but the script is different, and there are no marginal sequence numbers. The folio numbers assigned by the ACV continue without interruption. The following section, fols. 65-94v, appear to contain more complete transcripts or extracts of items already found above. As for the contents of the missing folios, they are identified in section C, which appears to be a sort of index to the B section. In section C, after the entry for Jordanus filius quondam Johannis de Grangia, correctly placed on fol. 47[v], the next items in C are for Perrodus Gazel, no folio number, and Hugo Contoz, both supposed to be on fol. 47 as well, but not found in the B section at that location. Next, the C section announces “Secuntur extractus licterarum vilagiorum” beginning at fol. 51, and a list of these items continues. However, the first of these “village” items is also found below, on fol. 65v. The contents of fols. 65-94v have been reviewed to determine which items duplicate material from fols. 1-48v of the B section, or that can be deduced to be duplicates of material from the missing fols. 49-64v, or are apparently unique. The list of items that should have been on the missing folios is here summarized from the C section, which see : reconnaissane, in turn, refers by a marginal notation back to fol. 3 in the A section, but we were unable to identify anything on that folio that corresponds in any way to the reconnaissance of Johannes Nybili on fol. 8. However, the notation here on fol. 78 of the B section seems to demonstrate that the A section is indeed an “extent” or terrier by Johannes Landry. Further, the same item recorded here, dated 09 jan 1405, is apparently the one on fol. 2v of the A section, with the same date.)

C section, fols. 105-end.

This section is in effect a partial index to the B section, covering original folio numbers 1-65 of the B section. It is preceded by one folio bearing various notations, some of which include folio numbers, which appears not to be a part of this section, unless it was originally a flyleaf or cover sheet, on which addition notations were later made. The folio numbers do not seem to correspond with the contents of Fn 313.
