The script is messy and sometimes very careless, probably from the late 16th Century. The main interest is a reconnaissance by Johannes de Blonay, son of the late Johannes de Blonay and Catherine de Vulliens, fol. 34, but many families are represented here, from a very wide area. The volume is bound in a copy of the antiphon De Jherusalem exeunt reliquie et salvacio, which might have been used for the dedication of a church. A large number of the documents included in Fn 6 seem to have been part of the “Nouveaux Titres” inventory of the ACV, and the originals of at least some of them are now found in CC XX 302, the collection of miscellaneous documents for the commune of Vulliens.

Title page (part of the antiphon): “Extraict de plusieurs lettres de la Cure et Vulliens, de la Chappelle Conception Nostre Dame, et la Chappelle Saint Martin”

1 “Extraict de plusieurs lettres apparenans a la cure de ~~Syens~~ Vulliens”

(We speculate that the date may be in error, possibly a word omitted in “millesimo quatercentesimo tertio”. The vicar at the time of this transaction was Dompnus Amedeus Rogeti. This speculation turns out to be correct, the item in question is clearly C XXII NF16423, 04 mar 1463, “Acquis de 12 s de rente (légués par Marguerite Motitaz, femme de Claude de Praz de Vuillens) assignés sur tous les biens du vendeur, fait en faveur de l'église de Vuillens contre Nicolet Guilly autrement Motitaz de Thierrens, - rachetables de 40 s”, and the original is evidently C XX 302/12, with the same date.)

(There is a collection in the AC Moudon that likely pertains to this section, AMF 2 Clergé, Chappelle de la Conception, reconnaissances diverses, 1448-1586, not described further, but plausibly containing the original documents extracted below.)

frumenti census nomine elemosine dicti conjuges promiserint juramentis suis ad Sancta Dei Evangelia corporaliter prestisis et sub expressa obligacione omnium et singulorum bonorum suorum quorumcunque solvere et reddere vel solvi facere dicto rectori et suis annuatim in festo Beati Martini Yemalis prout in lictera super premissis confecta, recepta, et signata per Johannem Fornat de Melduno clericum sigillo communi ballivie Vuaudi sigillata, data 15 dec 1382.

35 Item, cum prememorata dicta Catherina de autoritate prefati Domini Johannis quondam de Blonay militis eius viri assignavit et assectavit dicte confitente (should be confratrie) et rectori eiusdem decem solidos Lausannenses census pro medietate viginti librarum Lausannensium dicte confratrie legatarum per quondam Nobilem virum Dominum Anthonii Cornuz de Vulliensi militem. (Presumably, the obligation of Catherina arises from the estate of her grandfather Anthonius de Vulliensi the younger, shared with her uncle Petrus, son of Anthonius the younger. Can the original bequest of 20 livres, from the cense stated here financed at 5% simple interest, be located?)

Item, et quinque solidos Lausannenses census pro centum solidorum (again, 5% simple interest, in this case on a principal of 100 sols ÷ 20 = 5 livres) in quibus dicta Margueritta eius mater (this should be Marguerita de Grandimonte, mother of the Johannes de Blonay who married Catherina de Vulliensi; however, Nicodus or Nicolaus de Blonay had married as his second wife, Marguerita de Vulliensi, daughter of Anthonius de Vulliensi the elder, who was thus the step-mother of Johannes de Blonay) dicte confratrie tenebatur cum Petro de Vulliensi predictis legatis predecessorum suorum, quos quindecim solidos census predictos (the two censes mentioned above, 10 + 5 sols) eadem dicta Catherina pro se et suis heredibus promisit juramento suo etc. et sub obligacione omnium bonorum suorum solvere et reddere dicte confratrie et rectoribus eiusdem perpetue annuatim termino predicto, prout in lictera inde confecta per Vuilliermum Chartreir clericum de Melduno recepta et signata data 17 apr 1385 plenius continetur. (Note that an additional 5 livres, and 5 sols cense, from the original bequest by Anthonius de Vulliensi the younger are not part of Catherina's obligation; is that cense mentioned elsewhere in Fn 6?)

35v Ceterum cum prememorati conjuges Johannes et Catherina dederint dicte confratrie dimidiam libram bone cere nove annui et perpetui redditus census quam dimidiam libram cere promiserint pro se et suis quibus supra juramentis suis ad Sancta Dei Evangelia corporaliter prestitis et sub expressa obligacione omnium bonorum suorum quorumcunque solvere et reddere dicte confratrie seu rectori eiusdem annuatim et perpetue termino predicto, prout continetur in lictera super premissis confecta per Uldriodum Ysabel de Melduno notarium recepta et signata data 13 jan 1405,

(Can the originals or contemporary copies of any of the above instruments be found? Dates 15 dec 1382, 17 apr 1385, 13 jan 1405, 31 jan 1449. None of these were found in the inventories of the ACV nor in the Archives Communales de Moudon. However, they might have been copied into one of the terriers. The only others noted as involving the Confrérie or chapel or altar de la Conception de la Vierge Marie are : Fn 340 (rentier sommaire), 341, 345, and Fn 314 already examined), pour les confréries du Saint-Esprit de Moudon. There may have been other religious bequests by these families, so the rest of the terriers relating to the churches, chapels, hospitals, and similar institutions of Moudon need to be checked. Also: P Loys 269, 29 mar 1401, “Richard de Vuilliens, donzel, de Moudon, lègue à la confrérie de la Conception de la Vierge Marie 12 deniers lausannois de cens, payable à chacun de ses anniversaires et rachetable au prix de 20 sous par ses héritiers. Il assigne ce cens sur tous ses biens. Acte reçu et levé par Guillaume Chartreir, clerc, de Moudon, juré du bailliage de Vaud.” In Fn 314, for the Confréries du Saint-Esprit de Moudon, fol. 12v, a list of “census antiqui qui forte non solventur”, the following entries: Dominus Richardus de Vuilliens, 1 cupam medii frumenti; Nobilis Jaqueta relictā Nobilis Anthonii de Vuilliens (but in fact, his widow was Elyonoda, and Jaqueta was one of his daughters), ii cupas medii frumenti; Nobilis Vuillermus de Vuilliens, ii cupas medii frumenti. The most likely place to find these documents would seem to be AC Moudon, AMF 2 Clergé, Chappelle de la Conception, reconnaissances diverses, 1448-1586, for which, as far as we are aware, there is no published inventory.)

37v Johannes Chapuis alias du Certor morans Melduni, quod cum Stephanus Paschiz morans Melduni confessus fuit quod cum Mermetus Platel quondam morans Melduni, Marguerita eius uxor, et Johannes dicti Mermeti nepos vendiderint perpetue quilibet ipsorum insolidorum quondam Uldriodo Cudeffert rectori altaris confratrie Comceptionis Beate Marie Virginis de Melduno, cense of 6 sols, and Mermetus then sold to Dominus Jacobus Salamyn presbiter Melduno rector of the same, another cense, and Stephanus Paschon promised to pay these to Nycodus Barbey rector of the said altar, now the said Johannes promises to pay, 18 feb 1449.
